Before you apply

Consider personal goals and development needs

Applicants are expected to have clear ideas about how they will contribute to development in Sri Lanka on their return. You should consider the links between your academic and professional goals and the development needs of Sri Lanka before beginning your application.

Read the Sri Lanka Country Profile

The Sri Lanka Country Profile (one of the resources available at www.australiaawardssrilanka.org) is essential reading because it includes information such as the target groups for Australia Awards Scholarships, levels of study, key dates, and eligibility criteria.

Research relevant university courses

The Commonwealth Register of Institutions and Courses for Overseas Students (CRICOS) has information on all Australian universities with courses available to international students. The CRICOS website and individual university websites can clarify:

- whether a course is available to international students
- details of the course content to compare course components
- English language requirements for a selected course
- any other course-specific entry requirements of the institution
- how closely a course fits a priority development sector.

You should carefully check that you meet all entry requirements before nominating a course. In particular, applicants proposing to study development economics or related fields should check if they have the requisite mathematics/statistics background.

How to apply

Gathering and certifying documents

You need a number of documents in order to submit an eligible application. It is important to collect them as early as possible. All documents must be certified. If the original document is not in English, the translated copy must be certified.

Although scanned versions of documents are uploaded with applications, candidates invited for interview will need to produce original documents for verification. A list of required documents is available at www.australiaawardssrilanka.org.

Online applications

Applications must be lodged online using the Online Australia Awards Scholarships Information System (OASIS) at: <https://oasis.dfat.gov.au>. We strongly advise you to apply well before the closing date. OASIS experiences peak usage in the days leading up to the closing date and you may experience delays over this period.

Application dates for study commencing in 2023

Opening date: 1 February 2022

Closing date: 29 April 2022

Applications received after this date will not be considered.

The selection process

Following eligibility checking, applications will be assessed and ranked by independent consultants and then shortlisted by Australian Government representatives. Only shortlisted candidates are contacted for interviews.

The selection interview includes a panel interview and a written exercise using a computer. Applicants will be assessed against the following criteria:

- academic competence
- potential outcome, including contribution to development outcomes in Sri Lanka in the specified priority development sectors
- professional and personal leadership attributes.

Refer to the Australia Awards Scholarships Policy Handbook for details.

Social inclusion & disability support

The Australian Government values contributions from all people. It seeks equity and broad participation by all groups in society. This includes women, people with disability and people from traditionally-marginalised groups.

The selection process for the Australia Awards Scholarships takes account of barriers to participation faced by applicants from under-represented groups to improve their competitiveness.

Reasonable disability support (academic and non-academic) is provided to recipients with disability based on a 'needs' assessment. The objective is to allow their participation on an equal basis with other Scholarship recipients. Australian institutions are very experienced in providing disability support. Applicants with disability are encouraged to notify the Australia Awards office in Sri Lanka of any disability as early as possible. Declaration of a disability will not negatively affect the assessment of an applicant's eligibility or placement. Further information on disability support is available in the Australia Awards Scholarships Policy Handbook.

Australia Awards Scholarship conditions

Applicants who want to accept an Australia Awards Scholarship will need to sign a contract with the Commonwealth of Australia declaring that they will comply with the conditions of the scholarship. These include:

- Recipients must commence the Scholarship the year in which it was awarded as it cannot be deferred except for reasons provided in the Scholarships Policy Handbook.
- Recipients must be enrolled on a full-time basis and make satisfactory academic progress.
- Recipients must satisfy all visa conditions and university regulations.
- Recipients are required to return to Sri Lanka for at least two years after completing their Scholarship, to contribute to economic and social development of the country.
